ANOTHER HEAVY TAX RAISE FOR MADISON?

Report Comes From Frankfort That Board of Supervisors Have Been Ordered To Raise Assessment

Unofficial reports are said to have been received from Frankfort today to the effect that a heavy increase has been ordered to the tax assessment of Madison county by the State Tax Commission now in session there.

News of the increase was received by District Tax Commissioner W. O. Mays, of this city, who works under the jurisdiction of the State Tax Board. Just how heavy the raise ordered is, was not stated, but that a raise should have been made to Madison at all this year, is beyond the comprehension of local officials.

Madison was given a $3,000,000 flat raise over her local assessment last year by the State Tax Board. In making his assessment this year, County Tax Commissioner Ben R. Powell and his capable assistant Will Adams, not only kept on the $3,000,000 raise of last year, but even increased that by another $1,500,000, thus making an increase of $4,500,000 placed on property valuations in this county within a year. Now, it is said, the State Tax Board comes and demands that the Board of Supervisors increase the tax valuations still further.

It is expected of course, that a delegation of prominent citizens will go from here to Frankfort to protest against such an unwarranted increase of taxes upon the people of this county.

First sales Monday at the "Big Price" Madison House. Don't forget this.

Two 30 acre tracts with beautiful building sites; one 60 acre tract with tenant house, barn and silo; also one of the most building sites in the county.

One 80 acre tract, with fine dwelling house, light and water in the house, every convenience. Stock and tobacco barns, good fencing, and everything to make an excellent home.

It takes money to buy them, but they are worth the price and will sell quickly, so if you want to build you a bungalow close to town, or if you want a fine home already built, don't delay.

These tracts are in my hands for sale and it won't take ten minutes to trade, if you are in the nation.

Dr. Green Back From State Training Conference

The State Training Conference for Community Leaders closed yesterday after a five day's conference. Dr. O. Olin Green, of this city, was the official delegate from Madison county has just returned. Prof. F. O. Clark, of Berea, also attended the conference.

Dr. Green in speaking to the Daily Register reporter said: "The conference was one of the most helpful I ever attended. About 160 delegates were present and a splendid spirit prevailed. All the discussions were open, frank, friendly and to the point. The real purpose of the conference was to discuss ways and means of improving community life with reference to the returned soldier and sailor. The idea is to help the soldier and to give him an opportunity to help the community. He wants to do this as was shown by conference with the returned soldiers at Camp Taylor. We must make a place for him and use him in all the movements for community improvement. The soldier does not want to be looked upon as a curiosity but as a citizen ready to take up his burden and do his part in the reconstruction days following the war."

Among the speakers at the conference were Dr. D. H. Ogden, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Louisville, Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, and Hon. H. V. McChesney, of Frankfort. Plans are being made for a two day's conference at Richmond, March 11th and 12th, at which prominent speakers will be heard.

This Makes League of Nations Look Better Still

Washington, Feb. 22—Support for the republican attacks in the Senate on the League of Nations came from the democratic side when Senator Reed, of Missouri, denounced the proposed plan. He asserted free American government will be displaced by the league and handed over to a government controlled by "European monarchs and Asiatic despots." He supported Borah's charge that it would abrogate the Monroe doctrine, involve America in all world conflicts and compel the submission of vital American questions to a foreign tribunal. He insisted England would dominate the league and on all questions the United States would be overwhelmingly outvoted.

Here is what she says: "Peruna has done my children good. I have a family of eight and never had a doctor, only your medicine. We all think Peruna a splendid tonic." So far as we have learned, Peruna is the only known remedy for which such a wonderful claim can be made. Like Mrs. Koch, there are thousands upon thousands of mothers who place their entire dependence upon Peruna. That Peruna has merited this confidence is attested by the words

Death of Mrs. Thorpe

"Mother Thorpe" is dead. This news will make many hearts sad among the hundreds of boys and young men, "her boys," scattered over Eastern Kentucky and many of them in foreign lands, who knew her and loved her for her gentle care of them while matron of Memorial Hall.

On the 18th of February, on the 34th anniversary of her wedding day, this excellent woman fell asleep to await the roll call on the Great Day when all must stand before the great white throne. For several years "Mother Thorpe" had been in ill health. Something over a year and a half ago, she gave up her position as matron at Memorial Hall on account of growing infirmities.

She was a good woman; and, after all, what better or greater thing can be said of a human being than is expressed in the words: "She was a good woman." For three years she had charge of the Hall; and, in all that time, she was faithful and true to her trust. She loved her boys, "my boys," as she tenderly spoke of them. Their welfare was always on her heart. When any of them were sick, she was an angel of mercy to them. Often have I seen her climb the long stairs to carry something to a sick boy when she was so feeble that the effort was exhausting. And yet she was ever cheerful through it all. A good woman, yea, a good and useful woman has passed to her eternal reward. Yes, many a young man throughout the state, in other states, and overseas, will hear with a sad heart that "Mother Thorpe" is dead.

"Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of time and place,
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar."

Miss Ada May Cromwell, of Frankfort, unanimously was re-elected president of the Seventh district of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, by delegates from 26 clubs at Georgetown.

Richmond Daily Register

S. M. Sauley, Editor & Proprietor.

Entered at the postoffice at Richmond Ky., as second class mail matter under Act of Congress of 1875.

Some of the smaller cities of Kentucky are proud of their "Great White Ways." Cynthia is content not to have any more light than absolutely necessary thrown on her streets.—Cynthia Democrat.

Same here, too. But Richmond will soon have the prettiest streets in the state for a city her size, and must have the White Way, too, with all wires underground, in the business section. The citizens want it. Let's get busy. From where we sit we can count eight unsightly and ungainly telephone and lighting wire poles around the front and side of the court house yard. Let's not have any half way measures. Put the wires underground in the business section, chop down the poles and put up a White Way. Is there any one who opposes this? If so, the columns of this paper are open for him or her to tell why.

Four Kentucky Authors Win

Prof. E. C. McDougle, Richmond's representative on the State Textbook Commission, returned home a day or so ago, but did not give out any information about its work then. A dispatch from Frankfort Friday night said:

"Of the 12 subjects for the elementary schools prescribed by law the texts on five and a half have been changed and on six and a half have been readopted. Of the 24 subjects at present prescribed by the State Board of Education for use in the high schools, four and five-sixths have of the texts have been changed. The other texts are readopted, except in cases where the present texts were not rebid by the publishers.

"Of the 30 books constituting the elementary course the present text has been changed in 13 instances and readopted in 17. Of the 44 books constituting the high school course, 11 have been changed. In the entire common school course, constituting a total of 74 books, or volumes, contained in the entire common school course 24 have been changed and 50 have been adopted."

The new adoptions were in the spelling, reading, arithmetic, grammar, geography and physiology. Four books of Kentucky authors were adopted.
